Description

In a busy bakery, there was a growing need for an efficient solution for storing and transporting baking trays. The quest for a suitable stacking container led to a specially designed model with dimensions of 655 x 455 x H 150 mm and a spacious capacity of 39.7 liters. This stacking container was not just any container; it was a food-safe storage solution with a closed, smooth bottom and fully enclosed side walls. Furthermore, the container was finished in a fresh, vibrant orange color that immediately stood out in the bakery. What made this stacking container so ideal were not only its physical properties but also its clever design details. The internal bottom lugs were a valuable addition; they ensured the baking trays remained firmly in place during storage and transportation, preventing damage.

The practical nature of this container was further enhanced by the handles in the same lively orange color. This not only facilitated storage but also significantly simplified the transportation of baking trays between different stations in the bakery.

The bakery, once a place where storage was a challenge, transformed into an organized and efficient space. The stacking containers were neatly piled, each filled with valuable baking trays. These stacking containers proved to be the ideal solution for both securely storing and effortlessly moving the baking trays.

While the bakery was filled with the scent of freshly baked bread and sweet treats, the stacking container fulfilled its crucial role in the background. It became an indispensable tool, silently supporting the creation and preservation of the perfection of each baked product, subtly enhancing the art of baking - in its striking orange color.
